ALLIED COUNCIL SEES PERIL IN SWITZERLAND

Paris Conference to Act Quickly; Russia Next.

BY LINCOLN EYRE.
(Copyright, 1917, by Press Publishing Company (New York World).)

PARIS, Nov. 29.—German intrigue in Switzerland, which has developed into a situation of grave peril to the allies, will be one of the first problems to be considered by the inter-allied conference which opened this morning in the ministry of foreign affairs. Fifteen nations were represented at the first meeting. The Russian situation will next be considered.

Premier Clemenceau presided, and welcomed the delegates. He emphasized the gravity of the responsibility resting on the assembly.

Committee Set Busy.
The session was a brief one, the conference dividing into specialized committees, the composition of which had been arranged at preliminary meetings.

The American mission, headed by Col. House, was augmented by Ambassador Sharp, Gen. Pershing and Vice Admiral Sims.

The supreme war council in the allied states, the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Japan are represented.

PEACE SOUGHT BY LANSDOWNE 'TO SAVE WORLD'

British Marquis Asks Revision of War Aims by Allies.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The question of the war policy of the allies was brought to the front today in a most unexpected quarter by the publication of a long letter in the Daily Telegraph from the Marquis of Lansdowne. He pleads for a revision of the allies' war aims and an attempt to secure peace before the prolongation of the war leads to the ruin of the civilized world.

The Marquis of Lansdowne is a typical representative of the old Tory party. He was a member of Asquith's coalition administration and was secretary for foreign affairs in Lord Salisbury's and Mr. Balfour's ministries. He was the last public man to be suspected of pacifist tendencies.

Some Points He Emphasizes.
Lord Lansdowne contends that an immense stimulus would probably be given to the peace party in Germany if it were understood:

"1. That the annihilation of Germany as a great power was not desired;
"2. That we do not seek to impose upon the German people a form of government against their choice.

"3. That, except as a legitimate war measure, we do not desire to deny Germany her place among the great commercial countries;
"4. That we are prepared after the war, in concert with the other powers, to examine the international problems connected with the freedom of the seas.

Lord Lansdowne also pointed out that the international pact under which the allies were bound would be afforded a new basis of international discussion if peace could be achieved.

"What will be the value of the blessings of peace to nations so exhausted that they can scarcely stretch forth a hand to grasp them?" he asks.

Indications of Controversy.
Lansdowne's long and intimate connection with foreign affairs and diplomacy lends unusual authority to such a pronouncement at the moment of the opening of the inter-allied conference at Paris and because of Clemenceau's recent declaration against a league of nations, including Germany. Already there are indications of embittered controversy over it.

Lord Balfour, former lord chancellor, writing in the Daily News, says: "Lansdowne's letter marks the opening of a new era in the history of the allies. It is a call to arms and a call to peace."

BRITISH GUNS MENACE ENEMY SUPPLY LINES

Foe May Be Forced to Evacuate Rail Center.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The British troops on the Cambrai front today made a further advance near Bourlon wood, according to the official report sent by Gen. Haig from the front tonight.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The British have brought their big guns into position and are shelling Cambrai. This announcement coming from Berlin emphasizes the extent of Gen. Byng's victory in his recent drive, for it shows that he has been able to coordinate his line sufficiently to get his heavy artillery into action. It also shows more than this.

The shelling of Cambrai seemingly makes that city of no further use to the Germans as a military stronghold, affecting the whole line of the enemy's communication system, for at Cambrai are railways vital to Germany's welfare. It is another hard blow to the Hindenburg line.

In the meantime the infantry fighting for the possession of Fontenoy, near Doune, has ceased temporarily.

Surprise Phase Ending.
It is now considered that the British surprise attack is definitely at an end and that for the next few days there will be nothing but a few minor patrolling engagements for the purpose of straightening the lines.

With British shells falling on Cambrai from the heights near the city the Germans seem no longer in a position to use the old French city and its evacuation now seems almost a foregone conclusion.

Field Marshal Haig can do almost as much harm to the Germans from his present position as he can if he occupies the city.

In the Flanders and Arras sectors the big guns of both groups of belligerents are maintaining a heavy bombardment.

ITALY TRIES FOES' POWER.
LONDON, Nov. 29.—The long awaited turn of the Italian armies to the offensive is indicated in today's official communications from both Berlin and Rome.

According to reports of observers at the battle front, great masses of infantry reserves have been brought up, together with a remarkable concentration of big guns.

It is probable that a major operation on the part of the Italians would be directed along the line between the Brenna and the Piave, where the Italians have carried out several feinting operations to determine the strength of the enemy.

With the arrival of the Anglo-French reinforcements the whole situation takes a turn for the better. Both the British army under Gen. Blumer and the French forces under Mavrolo are fresh and were not merely sent for the sake of a reinforcement, but for the definite purpose of operating as separate units.

Berlin, in its official report today, admits the Italians yesterday heavily attacked the Teuton positions on the west bank of the Brenna and on Monte Lombardo on the northern front.

SHOOT DOWN OWN MEN.
HEADQUARTERS OF THE ITALIAN ARMY IN NORTHERN ITALY, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—Details have been officially received of one of the most sanguinary fights in the northern zone in which two Austro-Hungarian regiments fought until they almost exterminated each other. The first attack of the day during which the Austrians advanced against the Italians.

The enemy advanced from the two flanks and toward night a regiment of Hungarian Czecha became engaged with a regiment of Galician Poles, both wearing a different uniform and speaking a different dialect. The rifle fire was followed by a hand-to-hand struggle with bayonets fixed to the rifles and grenades hurled through the night.

FORCE WOMEN TO WORK.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—The Austro-German leaders in Italy, official dispatches received here today from Rome say, are compelling the civil population of the captured region, without respect to age or sex, to work on fortifications of the Tagliamento, the left bank of the Piave and the Cadore zones.

A German officer taken prisoner, the dispatches say, confirms the report that Hindenburg had personal charge of the drive into Italy.

THE BOLSHEVIK'S DREAM

HERDIE AIRMAN FROM ILLINOIS ESCAPES HIS GERMAN CAPTORS

(By the Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 29.—Lieut. Patrick O'Brien of Monmouth, Ill., the first American member of the British flying corps to escape from Germany, has arrived in London. O'Brien, a flying corps pilot, was captured by the Germans after a daring escape from a prison camp in Germany.

O'Brien did not know the German language, but he used a little French on a kindly Belgian, who was so happy to meet an American in British uniform that he sheltered him for several days. The Belgian then gave him clothes to cover his uniform and directed him to the nearest safe place.

After calling his aged mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, at Monmouth, to expect to see him soon, Lieut. O'Brien slipped out of the German prison camp and made his way to the Belgian frontier. He was a fugitive for seventy-two days, and his goal was within sight narrowly escaped electrocution from the charged wires along the Holland frontier.

After calling his aged mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, at Monmouth, to expect to see him soon, Lieut. O'Brien slipped out of the German prison camp and made his way to the Belgian frontier. He was a fugitive for seventy-two days, and his goal was within sight narrowly escaped electrocution from the charged wires along the Holland frontier.

O'Brien was fined last night by a group of admiring flyers, who, like scores of friends along the front, believed he had been killed when he was reported missing on Aug. 17 last.

Distressed by the war.
O'Brien, who is 27 years old, was flying in the American aviation squadron at San Diego, Cal., when he went to Victoria, B. C., and obtained a copy of the Canadian army. Going to France the next year he distinguished himself by his great daring over the German lines. On the morning of Aug. 17 enemy guns forced him to descend, but fortunately he landed behind his own lines.

Late in the afternoon of the next day he saw him up again over the German lines. He was captured by six British soldiers, who took him to a prison camp. The encounter, O'Brien's machine being engaged, four enemy craft and accounting for one before O'Brien was shot through the upper lip. He fell with his damaged airplane from a height of 4,000 feet. O'Brien says he cannot explain why he was not killed. When he remained consciousness he was in a German hospital.

Jumped from Train.
The lieutenant spent three weeks at a prison camp at Courtrai before he was started for the interior of Germany. There were three other prisoners under a strong guard in his compartment when O'Brien, as a rule, had the window opened by complaining of the smoke.

The train was now sixty miles inside Germany and traveling at thirty miles an hour, but O'Brien decided to take a desperate chance. He jumped from the train, skimming the whole side of his face, reopening the wound in his lip, and losing consciousness. It was about 4 o'clock in the morning and the darkness shielded him. When he recovered he was lying in a field.

Then, for seventy-two days he was a fugitive, traveling only at night. He passed through fields and meadows, rivers and forests in Germany, Luxembourg, and Belgium before he reached the Dutch frontier. At the time of his flight he had a piece of sausage on his person, which he ate when he was hungry. He was very tired and weak, but he was determined to escape.

KAISER HUNGRY FOR SLAV PEACE, HERTLING SAYS

RUSSIANS FEAR JAP ATTACK IF THEY QUIT WAR

Down with Bolsheviki, Petrograd Press Demands.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT (Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 29.—Wild speculation, amounting in some circles to a panic, is caused by the publication of the note addressed by the chiefs of the allied embassies in Petrograd to the Russian general staff, in which Russia is threatened with "very grave consequences" if she breaks the treaty of Aug. 23, 1914. The American embassy does not join in the formal warning.

Even the Delonadoro, mouthpiece of the great Socialist revolutionist leader, Tchernoff, sees such a grave menace in the note that it shouts in big headlines "Down with the Bolsheviki" and "You are forcing the allies to become our enemies."

Other Petrograd newspapers excitedly interpret the note as meaning that the allies will offer forcible opposition to the present Russian régime's proceedings, or that Japan will declare war against Russia.

The note is presented to the allied missions accredited to Russia, in honor to declare, conformably to the instructions received by them from their authorized representatives in Petrograd, that they protest in the most energetic manner to the high command of the Russians against the violation of the conditions of the treaty of Aug. 23, 1914, by which the allies, Russia included, solemnly agreed neither to conclude a peace separately, nor to cease operations of war separately.

The undersigned consider it their duty to warn the staff that any violation of the treaty by Russia will cause very grave consequences.

Oppose Bolshevik Commander.
All of the newspapers report opposition to the new Bolshevik chief commander of the Russian armies, who is a young Jewish lieutenant. Some of the troops at the front decline to accept him and Finland reports his resignation. The general newspaper tone continues to be anti-Bolshevik.

Discusses Poland Plans.
Respecting Poland, Lithuania, and Courland, Count von Hertling said: "We respect the right of self-determination of their peoples. We expect they will give themselves a constitutional form of government corresponding to their conditions."

The chancellor dwelt at length upon all the current problems of the internal and external situations. After some personal observations on the war the chancellor referred to the home politics of the empire.

He alluded to the introduction of the Prussian franchise proposal and the government's new measures which extend social and political legislation in Germany, and in regard to the maintenance of a censorship professed himself, in contradiction to the stand of the entente powers, in favor of a liberal conception of the right of free opinion.

Urges Internal Unity.
Count von Hertling claimed the initiative for the Prussian reforms proceeded from the crown, and talked about some new bills of reform affecting the workmen's unions.

"The point now is to stand together united and firm until victory is achieved," he continued. "Our enemies begin to see they cannot deprive us of victory by force of arms, but they base their hope on a supposed imminent internal breakdown." With our knowledge of our German conditions, and misled by a desperate and instigating press, they expect to see signs of coming events and transfer of power, to destroy this by a unanimous determination to support the government. That one thought and determination fills all hearts—thought of one's country."

Comments Kaiser's Allies.
After his affecting appeal for unity on the internal front the chancellor spoke about as follows on the general political world situation.

"I have taken over from my highly honored predecessors in office a precious heritage—namely, to cherish our friendship with Austria-Hungary, Turkey, and Bulgaria. Our alliance with these three states were concluded on different dates, but their aim is common—the realization of national ideals, the safeguarding of our territorial possessions, and the warding off of enemy attacks. The preeminent nature of this aim has steered our resolution in the long and bloody struggle and will sustain us until the end is in sight."

"Our faithful allies, to whom we have been drawn in defense of our British guns shell Cambrai and imperil German communications.

JACKIES MAKE CITY THANKFUL AND VICE VERSA

Chicagoans and Sailors Make Day Memorable by Celebration.

With feasting, entertainment, football, and universal admiration and good will, Chicago yesterday was host to the sailors of the Great Lakes Training station and the relatively few army men left at Fort Sheridan.

The expected number of boys available for the big day was considerably decreased at the eleventh hour by the orders calling several hundred of the sailors into service. Chaplain Moore and Capt. Moffett said they were sorry that any had to be disappointed.

In the towns between Chicago and the Great Lakes several hundred jackies were entertained in the homes and Chaplain Moore said that the boys, returning to camp last night, reported the day to have been one of the most enjoyable in their lives.

Car Fare Helps.

The contributions to the transportation fund made through this Tribune enabled hundreds of the jackies to leave the camp for the turkey dinners, both in the homes and the clubs in Chicago, who otherwise would have had to remain in camp.

While the dinners were being served throughout the city and suburbs to the north, another division of the good fellowship forces delivered 3,500 packages, mostly canned and sweet meats, at the detention camp of the Great Lakes station.

But about 3,500 jackies got a fair idea of just how strong all Chicago is for them.

The celebration continued until far into the night with receptions and dancing parties. Two big parties were put on at the South Shore Country club and the Edgewater Beach hotel at night. At the beach hotel the jackies received sweaters and other presents.

And the rejoicing was climaxed for the jackies when the sailors for the first time since they left the country joined the men from Fort Sheridan in the football game on Stagg field.

Capt. Moffett's Thanks.

"This day has accomplished much for the training station," Capt. Moffett said. "It binds the Great Lakes and Chicago together more firmly than heretofore. We are all together now, all pulling together. It has been a memorable day and the football victory helps, too."

Chaplain Moore, though weary with the night and day labor of the last week, managed to make the rounds yesterday.

"I express the thanks of Capt. William A. Moffett and Master Joseph Plummer for the wonderful hospitality extended the men at the station," he said. "They, with myself, express our thanks to the press and particularly to the Chicago Tribune for the hearty cooperation they have given us."

"To those who did not get their full quota of men an explanation is due. A heavy draft which came in recently upset our plans and we were unable to furnish all the men we had promised to some of the homes, clubs, and hotels."

Rothschild's Entertainers 500.

Five hundred of Uncle Sam's own in blue were guests of Rothschild & Co., and everything that heart or stomach could desire was provided for their entertainment. The Winter Garden orchestra played. Judge Henry Horner offered the invocation. Milton Schwarwald, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strubel, Sidney Lachman, Master Joe Brennan, and Doc O'Neill took part. These artists were loaned by Jerome H. Remick & Co. Miss Muriel De Forrest was loaned by the Blumhardt garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haynes Flint, hosts at the College Inn to 130 under the auspices of the Chicago Woman's club. An entertainment followed the dinner.

Thirty jackies were guests of the La Salle management. W. L. Gregory and his mother had a party of four boys from Munich, Ind., at the La Salle.

"O, Boy" Gives Help.

At the Brownleigh there were all of the girls from the "O, Boy" chorus and Blanche Ring thrown in for entertainment. After the 6 o'clock turkey dinner there was dancing.

Twenty-five jackies did their best to eat the dinner that had been provided for fifty at the University club.

The Union League club captured 110 jackies and fed them full. Mrs. Ward, Bert Murphy, and Flo Jacobson provided entertainment. After dinner the boys were given the freedom of the club.

The Evanston Country club lost most of its jackies in the sea draft. Dinner for seventy-five was more than the down to so who could master.

The Hyde Park hotel management and guests entertained forty sailors after the football victory. After dinner they danced.

All but thirty members of the crews of the U. S. S. Hawk and U. S. S. Gopher, numbering 151 sailors, were entertained by kind hearted Chicagoans. Both crews had many more invitations than they could fill.

Stage Women Entertain.

Two hundred and fifty jackies dined as guests of the State Women's Red Cross auxiliary at the Stratford. Among the hostesses were Mrs. Olla Skinner, Mrs. Mortimer Singer, Mrs. Theodore Henshell, Mrs. Mary Youlton, Mrs. Oscar Egler, Mrs. Joseph H. Plummer, Mrs. Gertrude Haynes Flint, Mrs. George Trystan, Mrs. Joseph H. Harris, and Mrs. Freeland, and maybe some more. Mrs. E. R. Fifeled was general manager.

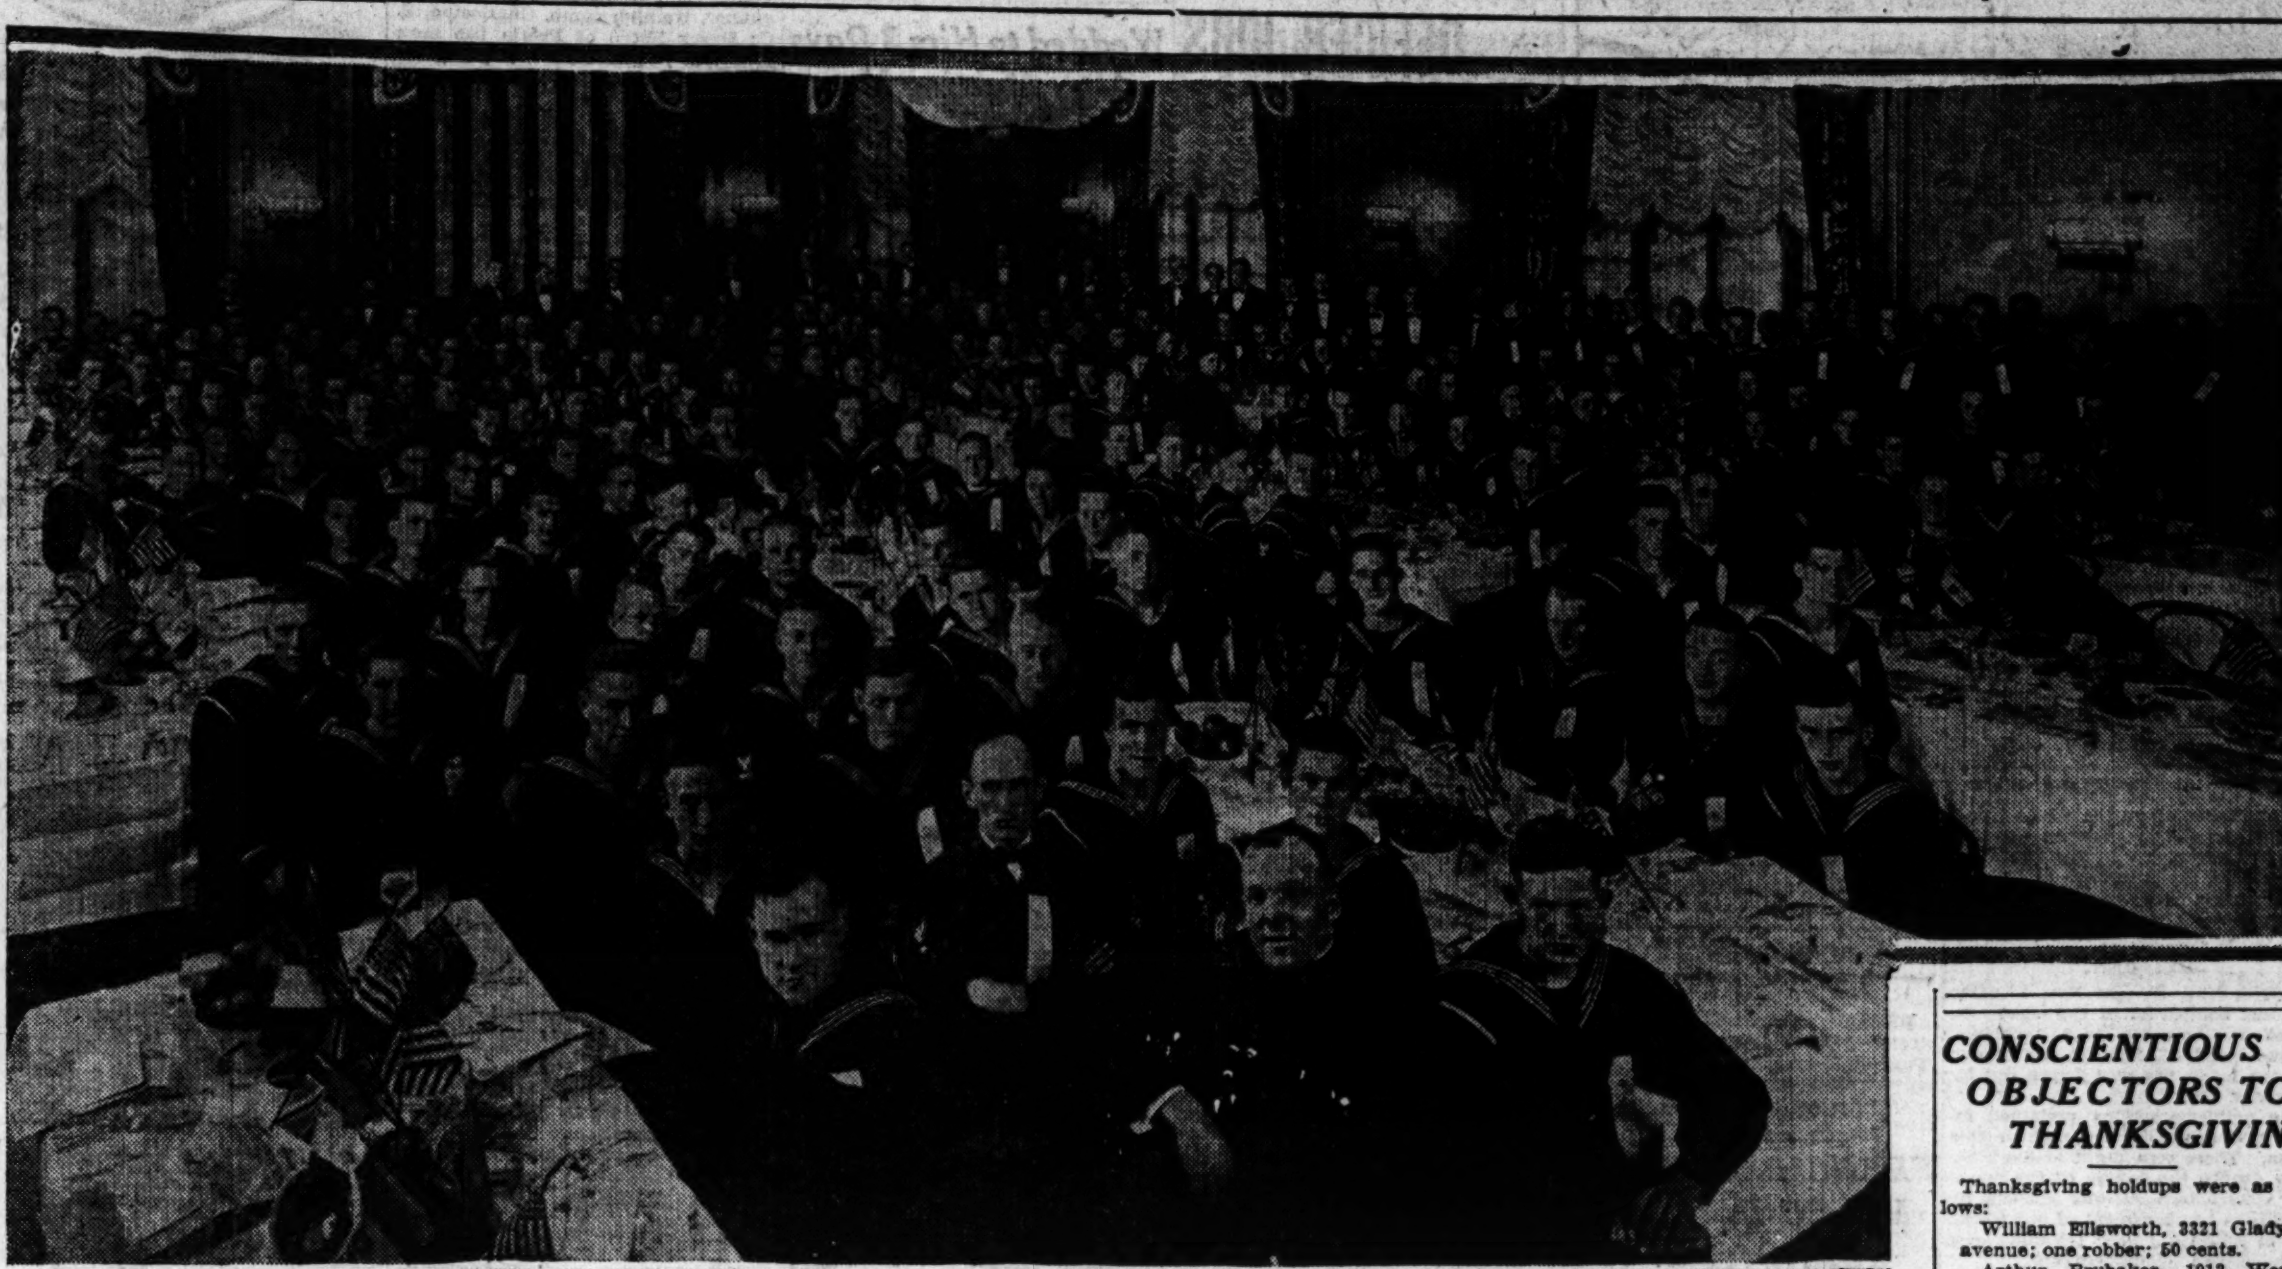

Capt. and Mrs. Moffett were honored guests along with Chaplain Moore.

Seventy-five jackies were entertained at the home of Mrs. George M. Shirk, 4323 Lake Park avenue. After the dinner the evening was spent in dancing and games. Mrs. R. G. Emmel assisted as hostess by opening her apartment.

Other places where jackies were entertained were: Casino club, Virginia hotel, States restaurant, Chicago club, St. Mark's parish house, Evanston; the Machinery club, Brevoort hotel, Great Northern hotel, Pilsbush hotel, Auditorium hotel, and Standard hotel.

IT WAS A GRAND DAY TO BE GUEST OF COOK COUNTY

Best of Food at Jails, Asylums, Hospitals, and Infirmaries.

Food was administered with a right good will in Cook county's various institutions yesterday, an externally gloomy day being rendered internally joyous.

Thirty-five hundred persons in the Oak Forest infirmary sat to a table that jolly well groaned under 1,000 pounds of fowl, several hundred bushels of potatoes and a range of dessert mountains.

There were 120 young persons at dinner in the Juvenile Detention home at 771 Gilpin place. They may have been regarded as morally off their base, but gastronomically they registered above par.

At the Hospital.

In the Cook county hospital, nearly 3,000 patients exhibited signs of wonderful recuperative powers under the benign radiance of 2,000 pounds of turkey, 100 barrels of sweet potatoes, 100 gallons of ice cream, and a carload or two of other odds and ends.

Those who found it convenient to remain in the county jail and the bride well over Thanksgiving expressed their condolences for those of their kind who mull in the mines of Siberia. Jaller Davies served up a smoking table d'hôte of turkey, sweet potatoes, and fruit, while those who still have friends were made happy with cigars and sweetmeats. In the bride well 2,000 prisoners ate of the chicken à la Mary, land, mashed potatoes, ice cream, and apples, and said it was good.

At Isolation Hospital.

Nine smallpox patients in the isolation hospital gave thanks that it wasn't mumps and had lots of fun eating turkey, cranberry sauce, and one thing another, as Dan O'Leary says.

Thirty-four hundred patients in the Dunning institution ate a couple of thousand pounds of roast pork, a mountain of potatoes, and war bread. The new dining room was opened in honor of the occasion, although it is not completed.

Eighty men had dinner in the Salvation Army Industrial home at 1325 West Congress street. Each man ate a loop $10 worth at a cost of 11 cents.

Three turkeys were consumed by the coast guard crew under Capt. John O. Anderson in the station at the mouth of the river. As heretofore, the turkeys were sent by the Michigan Transportation company.

CHURCHES RAISE SERVICE FLAGS IN THANKSGIVING

Patriotic services predominated in Chicago churches yesterday. A service flag with 119 stars was raised in Holy Angel's Roman Catholic church and one with 84 stars was unfurled from St. Paul's Episcopal church.

A flag draped cross was carried in the choir procession. Fifty-four stars graced the service flag in St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church where there were two choral services.

Jackies about to go to sea attended confirmation service at Camp Rose Great Lakes, where the Rt. Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold presided. Twelve congregations participated in a union service of the Central Northern Ministerial association in the Church of the Covenant. Dr. Samuel J. Skevington preached. A patriotic suite of national anthems was played by Eric Delemar in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Harold H. Brown preached before a union meeting in the Woodlawn Park Presbyterian church. In the First Methodist church 200 sat at an evening dinner. The Salvation Army held services in the Citadel, 1512 West Madison street.

Fire Officer, Unarmed, Captures Armed Burglar

Alone and unarmed, Lieut. Walter Wolf, Hook and Ladder Company No. 30, subdued and arrested an armed burglar, who broke into his flat at 1535 Lafayette avenue last Tuesday. Wolf probably will be commended for bravery by the Chicago fire chief.

EXTRA! TURKEY INVADES PARIS, THEN IS INTERNED

Americans Cause the Surrender in Festive Celebration.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Turkey—not Germany's ally, however—came into its own in Paris when Americans celebrated Thanksgiving day and the American army spent its first Thanksgiving in a foreign land.

Special services were organized in American churches here when spiritual comfort was given the troops by regimental chaplains. Ambassador Sharp spoke to Americans here.

The quartermaster's department granted authority to cater specially for the men and the following was the amount of different foodstuffs in raw states allowed the soldiers:

Turkey, sixteen ounces.
Flour, one pint.
Sweet potatoes, twenty ounces, instead of bread.
Mince meat, one pint, instead of white potatoes.
Thirty-four ounces mixed nuts.
Four ounces raisins, figs, or dates.
Four ounces cranberries.
One quart apples.
Half a lemon.

Sharps Entertain at Tea.
Many officers on duty at the camps as well as those spending short leave in Paris, heartily responded to Ambassador and Mrs. Sharp's invitation to take tea with them at the embassy. One big event took place at the American Soldiers' and Sailors' club where "free eats," including chicken sandwiches, pumpkin pie, sausages, and all other good things which go to make the celebration of Thanksgiving day a pleasant one.

Previous to the eats a free show was given by the soldiers themselves, who delighted a big khaki audience.

The Y. M. C. A. catered for the biggest Thanksgiving meals in two hotels.

Celebrate in London.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving was observed in London by the flying of American flags, an informal dinner at the American Officers' club, and a picturesque united service on behalf of the United States and Great Britain in the historic church of St. Ethelburga.

Ambassador Page and Consul General Skinner were represented officially at the service, which was attended by several distinguished Englishmen and a number of American residents of London.

The service included prayers for King George, President Wilson, Great Britain, and the United States and the singing of "Hail Columbia," "The Star Spangled Banner," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "God Save the King," and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

The Rev. W. F. Cobb, the rector, in his sermon spoke of President Wilson as a worthy successor to Washington and Lincoln and as in some respects even stronger than they.

LITTLE MOTHER'S PLAN TO DIE WINS AID FOR CHILDREN

Mary Rosen almost died by her own hand, and so her little charges had more than enough turkey yesterday.

A number of automobiles stopped at Mary's home at 7534 Dobson avenue during the morning. Each occupant carried a "Thanksgiving basket" into the house. A member of the Salvation Army roamed at least one of the turkeys.

Mary had been mothering her little brother and sisters since her mother died two years ago. Weary, she turned on the gas and lay down to die a few days ago. She was found in time to save her life, and explained she did it because she hadn't been able to save any money this year and couldn't bear the prospect of the empty holidays the children would have.

The story brought sympathetic people with the Thanksgiving feasts. But Mary wasn't there for dinner. She left the county hospital yesterday morning, but her father took her to a home for further care.

SHORTER COATS FOR U. S. TROOPS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 29.—The uniform of the American soldier is undergoing a further change. It is a small one made necessary by conditions. A large number of troops have turned in their long overcoats to receive in exchange coats of the same material but much shorter in length.

The new ones strike the men above the knees.

PRESIDENT GOES TO CHURCH, THEN DINES ON TURKEY

Soldiers and Sailors Are Entertained Royally by the Capital.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Washington made Thanksgiving day a memorable one for soldiers and sailors. Thousands of national army men in nearby training camps and sailors on shore leave were dined and entertained by the people of the capital.

President Wilson and his family feasted on a turkey bred in old Kentucky on the farm of South Trimble, clerk of the house. With Mrs. Wilson, the president attended Thanksgiving service in the morning at the Metropolitan Memorial Methodist church, where Bishop W. F. McDowell preached.

Daniels' Sons Come Home.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels had the biggest party, their own four sons being at home for the holiday, and a score of convalescent sailors and marines being special guests of the day. Three of the Daniels boys are still in school. The eldest, Joseph Daniels Jr., is in the marine corps, stationed at Philadelphia, but was at home on leave for Thanksgiving.

The William B. Wilsons had a happy party even if Secretary Wilson is reported as being obliged to interrupt his western tour and take a rest. All three sons of the family are on leave from the various camps at which they are stationed—Lieut. Joseph Wilson from Camp Meade; bringing five soldier friends with him; Lieut. William B. Wilson Jr., he has just won the lieutenantcy in the artillery, from Fort Niagara, where he is stationed, and Private James Wilson from Annapolis.

Chicagoans Enjoy Day.

Of the Chicago colony in Washington the majority had quiet home Thanksgivings with family reunions.

Mrs. Marshall Field had a small company to dinner, including former Senator and Mrs. A. J. Beveridge, who are her house guests, and Mr. Bartlett of Chicago, and later took her guests to the Naval relief ball.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hurley had a strictly family party, their two soldier sons, who were able to obtain leave, with the wife of one, and the fiancée of the other, passed the evening quietly at their Massachusetts avenue home.

German-American Alliance Elects New President

Delegate officers of the National German-American alliance met at the Red Star inn yesterday to accept the resignation of President Charles J. Hexamer. The delegates were reluctant to permit the Philadelphia to withdraw. They made him an honorary president and elected the Rev. S. G. von Basse, a Protestant clergyman of Delaware, to succeed him. Hexamer said he was incapacitated for further service by reason of an operation.

Judge Schwab of Cincinnati was made third vice president to fill a vacancy. Dr. F. H. Damash of Oregon, now at Fort Riley with a commission as first lieutenant, was made fifth vice president. Dr. Charles H. Weinsberg of Missouri sixth, and Dr. G. Hitzel of Buffalo seventh vice president.

is an extraordinary value which it would be difficult—if not impossible—to duplicate in Chicago at the price, $200.

Made up of carefully selected pelts, exquisitely tailored and finished in the fine detail which characterizes SHAYNE furs, it is a garment whose worth is not based on the present values of pelts.

Note particularly the fashionable sailor collar, which can be worn open, or snug-fitting around the neck. Patch pockets add a swagger touch much in vogue.

These coats are 45 inches long, with a sweep of 95 inches. They are semi-fitting, and may be worn with or without girdle. Fine quality soft silk lining. In every respect SHAYNE quality throughout.

WAR NEWS TOLD IN STATEMENTS FROM CAPITALS

Official Reports Show All Moves of Armies on Various Fronts.

FRENCH FRONT

BRITISH.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A hostile attack delivered against Belgian positions in the neighborhood of Aschpoep was beaten off after sharp fighting. South of the Scarpe river we captured a few prisoners during the night in patrol encounters. On the remainder of the front there is nothing of special interest to report.

AVIATION.

There was a slight improvement in the weather on Wednesday. The visibility at times was good, but a strong west wind and clouds interfered with the cooperation of our airplanes with the artillery as well as with reconnaissance work.

A number of photographs were taken and over 130 bombs were dropped during the day on the Courtrai, Roulers, Menin, and Thourout railway stations and other targets in the Ypres battle area.

At night, in spite of a strong wind and clouds, seventy heavy bombs were dropped on the Roulers railway station and many rounds were fired from machine guns into the enemy's huts in the neighborhood. One hostile machine was driven down out of control. Three of ours are missing.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Army group of Prince Rupprecht: East of Merckem Bavarian storming troops brought back from the Belgian lines one officer, forty-six men, and two machine guns.

There was heavy artillery fighting throughout the day near Poelcapelle and between Beclere and Gheluvelt. East of Arras the artillery activity increased. There was a lull in the fighting yesterday southwest of Cambrai.

Minor forefield engagements resulted in the capture of prisoners and machine guns.

Army group of the German crown prince: On both banks of the Meuse the artillery firing revived in the afternoon. We carried out successful reconnaissance. A French attack near Dieppe was repulsed.

FRENCH.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Artillery actions occurred north of the Aisne and in the region of Soignies.

In the Champagne north of Cambrai the enemy last night after a violent bombardment undertook a raid in great strength. Our troops repulsed him, inflicting heavy losses. In the Argonne west of the Aire we raided the German lines and brought back ten prisoners.

Two enemy raids, one on the left bank of the Meuse in the region of Bethincourt, the other on the right bank northwest of Vaux les Damloup, were completely repulsed. There was active artillery fighting in upper Alsace.

NIGHT STATEMENT.

There was activity on the part of

THE STRUGGLE IN ALBANIA

1.—Rome reports repulse with heavy losses of Tosten attacks ten miles northeast of Avlona at the confluence of the Buzica and Vogas rivers.

2.—Avlona, principal Albanian port on the Adriatic, possession of which would give the central powers a base from which to displace both armies along the whole front, notably between the Somme and the Oise, in Champagne in the region of Massiges, in the Argonne, on the left bank of the Aire, in the region of Chaume wood and Besonvaux, as well as in upper Alsace.

BELGIAN.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—On Nov. 28 after a violent bombardment the enemy attacked our trenches near Poelcapelle. He succeeded in entering one of our advance posts, but was driven out by a counter attack.

The artillery actions remained intense most of the day and night in this region. There was slight artillery activity during the course of the morning. The afternoon was marked by an intense bombardment of our works east of Merckem, near Dismude, and in the region of Ramscapelle.

We replied vigorously against the enemy batteries and organizations. In the evening aerial bombs were launched on our cantonments at Alveringhem and Boeslarestem.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, Nov. 29.—Heavy artillery fighting is in progress all along the front, but there have been no further infantry actions of importance. On the lower Piave river Italian batteries directed a destructive fire at enemy boats.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Italian attacks against our mountain positions on the west bank of the Brenta and on Monte Tomba (on the northern front) failed.

ALBANIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, Nov. 29.—Enemy attacks at the confluence of the Susica and Vogas rivers at dawn yesterday were repulsed with heavy losses.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The artillery fighting has taken on considerable activity along the whole front, particularly in the region of Monastir. Our fire provoked an explosion in the enemy's lines. British aviators bombed

BAKER TO BAR 'BULLET PROOF' OFFICER JOBS

New War Ruling Hits the "Slackers" at Desks
in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—So-called "slacker commissions" by which men of draft age seek to escape service in the ranks and get officers' places in non-combatant branches of the army have struck a snag in two general policies laid down by Secretary of War Baker. That there is a large number of such slackers, protected by political influence, is a charge which is becoming more and more persistent.

Mr. Baker, alive to the situation, has laid down these two general policies for future guidance of his subordinates:

1. Men of draft age shall not be commissioned for non-combatant service unless it shall be clearly established that they are better fitted for special work than available civilians beyond draft age.

2. Army functions that can be performed efficiently by civilians shall not be placed on a military footing by commissioning men needed to do the work.

Shielded by Commissions. The problem of commissions in the various staff departments of the army that have to do with the supply lines, transportation, construction and a hundred other non-combatant functions of the service is a difficult one.

There have been numerous cases of young men of draft age who have obtained commissions and therefore are exempt from the selective service law under which the fighting troops are being mobilized.

Mr. Baker's ruling applies particularly to inspection of materials manufactured or produced for the army, food, clothing, tentage, and thousands of other items, it is held, could be inspected as well by a civilian as by an officer.

Police to Aid Draft.

Every police official in the country will become a part of the great machine organized for building the national army, under war department plans announced today by Provost Marshal General Crowder. Postal authorities also will play an active part in helping to carry out the new regulations and the department believes that with the aid of these two agencies local exemption boards will be greatly assisted in registering the men and getting them to the training camps as they are called.

All the elaborate machinery of the postoffice department will be used to see that questionnaires are delivered to the men and are returned by them within the seven days' time limit.

Chance Shot by Germans Killed 2 Pershing's Men

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 29.—The killing of two of Gen. Pershing's soldiers and the wounding of five others several days ago, already reported, was due to a heavy German shell which hit a loaded ammunition wagon. Some of the men were on the wagon and others were nearby when the shell, which was a chance shot, struck. The wagon with its cargo was blown up. Some of the wounded are in a serious condition and all of them are in the hospital.

"BARONET'S" WIFE TAKES HIS CHECK; SHE'S SHORT $200

Wedded to Him 3 Days
After Meeting Man
Held as Forger.

Charles Nelson is under arrest at the detective bureau. The police say he is wanted in a dozen cities for forgery. He says he is a graduate of Dartmouth college and of the law school of the University of New York.

He told Chief of Detectives Mooney his real name was A. C. Williamson and that he was born in New York City. He is 45 years old.

Posting as the "Baronet Nelson of London, Eng." he met Etta G. Thornton, a widow, in Minneapolis, Nov. 1 and married her three days later. He gave her a forged check for $200 in currency which she trusted to him. She accompanied him to Chicago.

Woman Released. The police also took her into custody, but upon being convinced that she was ignorant of Nelson's forgeries, Capt. Mooney ordered her released.

"I'll come clean with you, captain, if you will only let my wife go," said Nelson. "I'm an ex-convict, and you'll find my picture in the identification bureau. But this little woman had no knowledge of my means of a livelihood. I duped her into marriage and even gave her a bum check for $200."

Nelson, the police say, was at one time department manager in a State street store. He was convicted in San Francisco for using the mails for fraudulent purposes and served two years.

While in prison he met a convict named Beresford, who was serving a term for burglary. He is known to the police as "Lord" Beresford. Nelson and Beresford were discharged about the same time and it was the "lord"

SHRAPNEL

These Chicagoans have been promoted in the navy: Robert J. Ford, to boatswain, S. E. Galveston; Earl H. Rober, boatswain, aviation detail, Cambridge, Mass.; George A. Bryha to gunner, training camp, Charleston, S. C.; Harry Estop of Peoria has been promoted to gunner, armed guard detail, Norfolk, Va.

Fifteen cars of fruit, donated by Joseph Di Giorgio, are being sold over the United States in aid of the Italian war sufferers' fund. Recently one of the cars of apples was sold for $10,000 in Pittsburgh.

who suggested to Nelson that they make a tour de luxe of forgery.

As a side line, Nelson claimed to represent the American-Hawaiian Can company. Through an advertisement for a demonstrator to introduce glass apples, he met Mrs. Thornton, who was at the Russell house. She was hired at $25 a week. The next day Nelson proposed marriage to her, and the widow pleaded for a few hours to consider the matter.

Some Ancestors. He told her he was a lineal descendant of Lord Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar, and that he was the only heir to the baronial castle of the Nelsons in Yorkshire. His father, he said, was at one time British ambassador to the United States. When the war ended they would return to England and settle down in their own baronial castle.

"I'll admit," the widow told Capt. Mooney, "that I was taken off my feet by the beautiful talk Mr. Nelson gave me. I used to keep a rooming house in Minneapolis. I was to be a baroness or something like that. Now I must go back to the rooming house business."

Detectives Powers and Mooney arrested Nelson at 1850 North La Salle street. Seven complaints have been received by Capt. Mooney from business men who cashed forged checks for Nelson.

He admitted his guilt, the captain says. "Anything to the story about you being a bandit?" asked the captain.

"Bunk," was Nelson's reply.

GORGAS BLAMES SUMMER KHAKI FOR SICKNESS

Fears Spread of Pneumonia in Guard Camp; Tents Overcrowded.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Many deaths from pneumonia have resulted in part from the failure of the war department to supply winter clothing in sufficient quantity to the soldiers at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., where 22,400 national guardsmen are in training. A contributing cause of the high death rate has been the overcrowded condition in the camp, due to lack of sufficient tentage.

Although Secretary of War Baker said a few days ago that he saw no danger to the health of the soldiers in southern camps in the lack of winter clothing, Surgeon General Gorgas pronounced this one of the causes of the pneumonia epidemic at Camp Wheeler, pneumonia epidemic of which moved in to make a personal investigation. About two-thirds of the men in the camp have now been supplied with winter clothing, additional tentage has been furnished, and other supplies are on the way.

Three Thousand Cases of Measles.
"In my recent inspection of Camp Wheeler, at Macon, Ga., I found conditions as had been indicated by reports," Gen. Gorgas said. "There had been a sharp epidemic of measles, some 4,000 cases, and, as always occurs with measles, a certain number of cases of pneumonia. At the time of my visit there were some 300 cases of pneumonia in the hospital. While the hospital was crowded, the right of way was given the pneumonia cases, and they were being well cared for."

"In the past month there have been about sixty deaths from pneumonia. The height of the measles epidemic was passed some ten days ago, but the pneumonia does not develop until a week or ten days after the incidence of the measles."

"We can therefore expect a considerable number of deaths from pneumonia. The camp is well situated and was in generally good condition. A large proportion of the cases of pneumonia were evidently contact cases and I am anxious on this score, fearing that we may be facing the beginning here of an epidemic of septic pneumonia."

"We have had a few cases of meningitis, a few cases of scarlet fever, and some cases of mumps."

Due to Lack of Clothing.
"Whatever the original cause of the epidemic and the present conditions, all these evils are accentuated by the crowded condition of the camp. The tendency to pneumonia has no doubt been increased by the fact that the men have generally been exposed to the cold weather of the last month with no other protection than their summer clothing. Clothing is now rapidly coming into camp and about two-thirds of the men are supplied with woolen garments."

"I recommend that it be insisted upon that all men in the camp have fifty feet of floor space each and to accomplish this that such additional shelter be supplied as may be necessary; that no fresh men be brought into the camp until the epidemic has subsided; that an observation camp be established, and that all new men be kept under observation until the main camp is free from infection."

"Steps have already been taken to separate the men to a greater degree," says the war department. "By the use of tents which were held for

Italians Here Collect Money for Ambulances.

Anna Costa in circle

Generous contributions to the American Red Cross ambulance fund for war work on the Italian front were made yesterday from the Italian settlement neighborhood. The ambulance is to be named for Giuseppe Garibaldi.

A month ago the Italian Progressive club, which meets at the settlement house, took up the work. There is now, either paid in or pledged to the fund, through the work of the club, $15,440.

Among the young women who have been canvassing the homes in the district are Anna Costa, Genevieve Scacelo, Helen Carlino, Agnes Tinaglio, Margaret Gusanti, Lena Marsala, Lena Mazzano, and the Misses Filis, Muscia, and Jabobucci.

Yesterday, as on last Sunday, the Italians paraded through the district, arousing interest in the project. The collections amounted to $252.50.

new men due to be called to the camp, and with 1,000 additional tents immediately shipped, the number per tent can be reduced from nine to five."

"The supplying of sufficient clothing has been delayed by the necessity of equipping first those divisions in northern latitudes and those which have been sent abroad. The men at Camp Wheeler now have a good supply of warm underwear and heavy outside clothing was shipped some days ago. It should be arriving at the camp now, but congestion of railroad traffic has caused some delay in its delivery."

Four French Steamers Sunk by U-Boats in Week

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Three French steamships of more than 1,600 tons and one of less than that tonnage were sunk by submarines or mines during the week ended Nov. 25. One fishing vessel was lost. Three steamers were attacked unsuccessfully.

MEN AT HOUSTON DINE MIGHTILY; SUMMER DAY

Houston, Tex., Nov. 29.—There were expressions of contentment throughout the camp this afternoon after an hour and a half at the mess table with a Thanksgiving dinner that was a masterpiece.

Every man ate until there was danger of losing buttons, then he smoked cigars "on the company" until he couldn't see his neighbor at the table for smoke, and then he waddled off to his tent for a nap. Innumerable civilians, mostly parents and friends of the boys, stood in line with the enlisted men with mess kits and got their share of the meal.

Theater Holdup Confessed by "Kidnaping Bandits"

Additional crimes were cleared yesterday when Hyland Heck and Paddy Feldman, two of the "kidnaping bandits" held at the Fifth street station, made further admissions to Lieut. Thomas Fitzgerald and Detective Sergeant Michael Grady. They said they robbed the safe in the Columbus theater, 6238 South Ashland avenue, one of Ascher Brothers' showhouses, April 15 last of $7,000. Ward Simpson, another prisoner, took part in that burglary, they said. The two men also confessed they held up a messenger for George W. Barry of 1514 East Sixty-eighth street, an excavating contractor, obtaining $220, April 7. They admitted they mistook the messenger for the paymaster of Wells Brothers' Contracting company of 946 Kingsbury street, who carried a payroll of $5,000.

97 PER CENT OF CAMP GRANT MEN FAVOR TRAINING

Many Declare for One Year's Service with the Colors.

BY PARKE BROWN.
Camp Grant, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Votes of 7,847 selected men, who have been under instruction at Camp Grant between two and three months, show that ninety-seven out of every 100 favor military training for the young men of the nation.

Replies were received today from the first sergeants of twenty-four more companies, who, at the request of Tim Tarsus, asked each man under them to state his position for or against universal military training. Two of the sergeants reported that their entire companies replied favorably, but did not give the figures. Therefore, the men of these companies are not counted. The figures from the other twenty-two units showed 3,028 men favoring the training, and only eighty-two opposed to it.

Total Vote of 7,847.
Combined with yesterday's figures on thirty-five companies, the totals for forty-seven companies are:

Number of men favorable, 7,829.

Number of men opposed, 718.

Among the comments written by the first sergeants there are a growing number of arguments in favor of a longer term of training than the six months which was suggested as the shortest possible period when the subject was presented to the sergeants.

Favor Year's Training.

Among the arguments are: "Twenty men think that all men should have at least a year."—R. Born, supply company, Three Hundred and Forty-second infantry.

"At least a year of military training would be of benefit to the young men."—Wilson, Battery C, Three Hundred and Thirty-first P. A.

"The vote cast in this company shows that the men are in favor of one year of military training when they reach the age of 18."—George P. Harvat, Company I, Three Hundred and Forty-second infantry.

"The men seem to think that six months' training is not enough. The majority advocate at least one year."—Mulligan, company E, Three Hundred and Forty-first infantry.

On "Hike" to Chicago.

Private Dalton Cole and Private Robert Ramsey of Headquarters company of the Twenty-first engineers, have obtained permission to start out at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning to "hike" to Chicago. They hope to reach Stags field Saturday afternoon, for a part of the big Grant-Custer football game.

Brazil's Offer to France Reveals Fact That There Are 205 Austro-German Ships in South American Waters.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The announcement from Rio de Janeiro that the Brazilian government has agreed to the use by France of thirty of the forty-five German vessels in Brazilian ports has directed attention here to the enormous amount of enemy tonnage in South American waters, which is lying idle. There are altogether 205 Austro-German ships in those waters, distributed among several of the Latin countries, the largest number being in Chile. It is believed that allied and American diplomacy is being directed towards obtaining use of these ships.

The gross tonnage of all the enemy vessels in Latin-American waters is estimated to be $15,423.

DEFENSE FUND OF I. W. W. UNDER U. S. SCRUTINY

Numerous persons who believe their disloyal sympathies are unknown to the authorities have contributed to the defense fund being raised to fight the government's case against members of the I. W. W. arrested throughout the country and brought here for trial.

Agents of the department of justice have made repeated visits at unexpected intervals at the Chicago headquarters of the I. W. W. While there they examined every scrap of paper which might disclose the names of contributors to the defense fund. Some of the lists, it was reported yesterday, revealed a number of surprises.

Otto Christensen, an attorney for the I. W. W., told a reporter yesterday that the organization was working vigorously to raise the fund. He said he could not confirm a report that it was nearing the $100,000 mark.

An attempt was made yesterday in Judge Landis' court to have the bail of Stanley J. Clark and George Andreychik, members of the I. W. W., reduced. Federal prosecutors opposed it strenuously and Judge Landis ruled with them.

Arpad Egon Von Dillmont, suspected of being a German spy, was removed to the jail at Wheaton yesterday. He is held without bail.

Exemption Board No. 53 Moves Its Headquarters

Through a typographical error, announcement was made that Exemption board No. 53 had moved its headquarters from 1123 Fullerton avenue to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. The Rev. Charles E. Peterson, yesterday called attention to the fact that it is exemption board No. 53, of which he is chairman, which has changed its location.

WAR LECTURERS GET THE MONEY MADE IN TALKS

Supervision Suggested as the Number of Them
Increases.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am interested to know if any of the several war lecturers who have appeared in Chicago during the last few weeks devote any part of their earnings to war relief funds. I like to attend lectures by men who "have gone over the top," and I do not begrudge paying my hard earned money for the privilege of doing so, but there would be an additional satisfaction in knowing that some small part of what I pay is going to some fund to help win the war. S. T.

THE LECTURERS GET IT.

In answer to the above inquiry THE TRIBUNE yesterday made an investigation. From Henry E. Voegell, one of the managers of Orchestra hall, where most of the lecturers appear, it was learned that whatever is left above expenses, goes directly into the pockets of the lecturers.

"Ordinarily no part of the receipts go to any war relief funds out of the box office," Mr. Voegell said. "In certain cases, however, the lecturers make a special rate to charitable organizations add these devote the profits of the lecture to relief funds. There will be several talks in the future at Orchestra hall by the same men who have already appeared, the total receipts of which will go to charity."

Suggests Supervision.

"There is no doubt that as the war progresses the number of men who lecture on their experiences will greatly increase. It is my personal opinion that some sort of official supervision should be established over their activities. They might be licensed, or some similar plan adopted. This would tend to discourage and keep out those managers who would tend to see easy money in the game."

"I do not want to be understood as offering any criticism of the men who have already appeared in Chicago. They are personally above reproach and are entitled to earn their living as best they may, but it does not seem quite fair that one or two men should be making fortunes without contributing some part of their earnings to war relief."

"I understand that one author and lecturer invested $50,000 in the last issue of Liberty bonds. That was not charity; it was a good investment."

Other Speakers Booked.

Capt. A. Radcliffe Dugmore will appear at Orchestra hall next Sunday evening. In answer to a telegram of inquiry sent to him in New York by Manager Voegell, the following reply was received yesterday:

"Percentage of all money I receive for lectures goes to war relief funds."

Similar queries will be sent to other lecturers who have engagements in the future, Mr. Voegell said. Sir George Reid is scheduled to give a talk the middle of December and Ian Hay early in January.

R. M. S. Empoy, author of "Over the Top," has lectured several times in Chicago during the last two months. His share of the receipts at Orchestra

EVERY ONE, EVEN THE PUP, RETURNS FOR WAR WEDDING

Lieut. Lewis B. Rock Weds

"Tickets" is back, but he thinks they need not have made such a fuss over his return. But, of course, you cannot expect a puppy, even a wire-haired puppy, to understand that his presence was merely an incident of a military wedding.

It was a happy Thanksgiving all around for the families of Frank D. Rock of 7245 Euclid avenue and Herbert L. Fairfield of 6044 Dorchester avenue, traffic manager of the Illinois Central railroad. To begin with, Lieut. Lewis B. Rock, U. S. N. A., and Miss Agnes Evelyn Fairfield were married at the bride's home.

Concerning "Tickets" Then "Tickets," pet terrier of Robert Bolling of 7247 Euclid avenue, was found by THE TRIBUNE after he had been missing several days; and to make it perfect, Bolling himself surprised the family by walking in on them when they supposed he was driving a field ambulance in France.

Lieut. Rock and Bolling were chums at the University of Illinois and had collaborated on the early training of "Tickets." When Bolling went to France and Rock to Fort Sheridan, "Tickets" became the special charge of the boys' mothers, both of whom were distressed when the little dog ran away.

It was the almost simultaneous arrival at the Bolling home of "Tickets" and his master, who is the son of George W. Bolling, publisher of the Daily Calumet, that put the finishing touch on the festivities.

Couple Leave for Camp.

Lieut. Rock and his bride, who was in her senior year at the University of Illinois, left after the ceremony for Charlotte, N. C., where the bridegroom is detailed as an instructor in the bayonet.

Included in the wedding party were Mr. Bolling and Gerald P. Rock, brother of the bridegroom, and an attendant at the training school for officers of the United States Naval Reserve on the lake front, and "Tickets," who wore a trench helmet given his master by a wounded German prisoner.

GALLANTRY

U. S. Seaman and Electrician
Commended for Bravery
While Giving Lives in Efforts to Save Comrades.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—John J. Swigart, naval seaman on an army transport, was commended by Secretary Daniels today for his gallant conduct in leaping into the sea in a courageous but unavailing effort to rescue a shipmate from drowning.

The vessel was moving at high speed when the shipmate fell overboard. Swigart jumped from the stern into the vessel's wake and searched for his shipmate until completely exhausted. Swigart's nearest kin is William Swigart, a brother living at 31 East Seventh street, Newport, Ky.

The secretary commended also Chief Electrician William Joseph Murphy of the crew of the United States destroyer Cassin, which was torpedoed Oct. 15. Murphy stuck to his post at the radio outfit, which was put out of commission by the explosion, and succeeded in making repairs that enabled the damaged vessel to get in touch by radio with other patrol craft. His wife, Mrs. Mabel Mary Murphy, lives at 378 East Thirty-fifth street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PATRIOTISM OF HANOVER RISES TO $3.33 MARK

Thirty members of Pastor Adolph Voight's Hanover Grove Evangelical church followed the preacher over the top for the U. S. A. yesterday. But they crawled over backwardly and advanced cautiously. Collectively they donated $100 to the Y. M. C. A. war fund.

Pastor Voight's charge was inspired by a talk with the federal authorities in Chicago. So, possibly, was that of the thirty of his flock yesterday. There are fifty members of the congregation yet to be visited.

August Volkening, F. C. Hecht, and Fred J. Bierman were the committees which visited the thirty members and made the collections. They announced last night contributions had come from all they visited in amounts which ranged from $1 to $5.

When the committee totaled up the contributions the members announced themselves well satisfied.

"The Price Mark"—Marden stars in it as creditably as does Miss Dorothy Dalton

"The Price Mark" that we "star" in is $25. We're real stars at that figure. We give men $30, $35 and $40 clothes at that price. It's a "price mark" that means more "honest-to-goodness" value than any you can pay. We've made that "price mark" stand for something—and we've done it by running this store on a basis that shows a complete "Hooverizing" of expense.

High rents are absolutely foreign to this business—we do business on a second floor that the landlord doesn't "hold dear." Our clothes are sold on a "bought and paid for" basis—no charge accounts—every one pays cash. We don't deliver purchases because we find it a very expensive little convenience.

We trim our expenses from $5 to $15 per garment—and that is what men save when they buy here. The money that comes out of the expense goes into the clothing. The clothing shows the extra value in an unmistakable way. Hand tailoring, silk linings, fine fabrics, striking styles—these are all very definite clues to extra value. This Marden store is forging ahead—you can't keep a good store down.

Full Dress and Tuxedo Suits quoted by other stores at $30 to $40, sold by Marden at $25. They're full silk lined.

FRENCH PRAISE ACTIVITY OF U. S. SECRET SERVICE

Disclosures of German Intrigue Amaze Former Critics.

BY CAROLYN WILSON.
(Special Correspondence of The Tribune.)
PARIS, Nov. 29.—The French papers are amazed at the thoroughness of our secret service in America. Such proof of it as they have had during the past few months with the Luxburg disclosures, the immediate presentation of data in the Bolo case and other less widely spoken of spy work, has made them revise their ideas.

Now, however, all the newspapers are devoting columns to descriptions of our methods, of our police force, of our detective bureaus, and they say, "Let us do as they do in America."

Princess U. S. Secret Service.
Othon Guerlac, writing in the Victoire, says:
"The worst critics are obliged to take off their hats to the American federal police. It has already shown several times what Americans understand by efficiency. M. Zimmermann, who thought there wasn't confusion enough in Mexico, and Luxburg, who insisted on the torpedoing without trace, have evidently discovered that these 'fool Americans' as some diplomat or another said of them, have after all one thing which is authentically the best in the world—and that is their secret police."

Even more interesting because more frank about conditions existing now in France, conditions which were even more marked two months ago when the big shakeup came in the secret service, and the head and eleven underlings went out in a vain effort to save M. Malvy from resigning from the ministry, is an article under the signature of Georges Prade in the Journal. It is entitled "Enemies on the Inside. Let us go over all our documents as they have in America."

Example in America.
The article says:
"People often tease savants whose minds are in the clouds with knowing marvelously well what happened under a certain Chinese emperor 2000 B. C., and what is actually happening in the moon or on the planet Mars, but who are ignorant of what is going on in their own houses where their wives are unfaithful and make light of it, in the bargain."

"We have witnessed, astonished and indignant by turns, the tremendous disclosures of the German spy maneuvers in the United States, unveiled and made public by the American secret service. And we think, 'Great heavens, what snakes those Germans were and how clever the Yankees were to catch them! What a romance! What pages spattered with filth and with blood; what a sinister clinking of gold and what crackling of suspect papers; what an odor of treason in the strong boxes, now opened to the cleansing light of day!'"

"But while we look through the telescope at what occurs on the other side of the Atlantic, we ignore profoundly what is happening here at home. But here, too, more than two years ago the same maneuvers were disclosed, the same sort of strong boxes were searched, the same sort of papers and bank accounts were found, and I may even say, more stupifying than those in America."

English Service Criticized.
I had an odd experience with the English secret service the other night. A year ago, when I came out of Germany and passed through Falmouth on the steamer Rotterdam, all my papers and notes were stolen the third day at sea, although I had presented them regularly to the officers at Falmouth for examination.

I was having an argument about our secret service with a young Englishman, who is one of the most important men financially in England. I said the English weren't efficient and quoted two or three incidents which had come under my notice, ending with the description of my own trips through Falmouth and my experience a year ago, when my papers were stolen the third day at sea. I told him the same officers have always conducted the examinations and that the officers at my table could neither speak nor read German; that they put aside all notes and clippings in German script as being unimportant, only looking at my own scribbled notes in English and at a catalogue of a recent Minneapolis, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Thanks-giving dinner for the prisoners in Nassau county jail was provided today by Mrs. Blanca De Saulles, whose trial on a charge of murder for shooting her husband, John L. De Saulles, was suspended over the holiday. Two men accused of killing their wives were beneficiaries of this bounty, which it is estimated cost the donor more than $100.

art exhibit in Berlin, making facetious remarks about the pictures.
"Fine people to examine travelers coming from Germany," I concluded. The young Englishman leaned forward in his chair very flushed and indignant.

"Le that so," he said. "Of course you didn't lose all your papers the third day of Falmouth. Of course everything you said wasn't noted, and of course your cabin wasn't carefully gone over, and even your muff opened and sewed up! Ask Henry Marsh whether the English secret service is inefficient. Ask Mrs. Bond, who was detailed to follow you to America. There is very little that you did on that boat that I can't tell you about, for I was watching you myself."

Gets That Relieved Feeling.
Well, I was so thrilled that I just sat back breathless. I felt so terribly important all of a sudden. And for fourteen solid months I had just been feeling indignant!
Quite frankly, I was delighted. When you know there is nothing against you—except a certain critical spirit toward England, in which I am certainly not alone—it is no cause for worry. I forgot that he also said:

"If there had been anything found against you, you would never have gone back to America, but would have been put on a cruiser and taken back to England."

MATLACK CHARGE OF KIDNAPING IS JOKE FOR WIFE

"Only an Excuse to See Spooky Estelle,"
She Says.

E. V. Matlack, head of the Lucie Light and Power company of St. Louis, released a new reel in his multiple romance with "Spooky Estelle" Harnesley of Chicago yesterday when he renewed in New York his assertions that his son, Elwood, 17 years old, has been kidnapped.

No charges have been made but there are suggestions that Mrs. Matlack, who made laughing stock of his son's disappearance, is the wife of a Chicago telegraph operator, knows something about the whereabouts of the boy. Mrs. Matlack is in Joplin, Mo.

"Spooky Estelle" to Rescue.
It is said that "Spooky Estelle's" previous training as a telephone operator enabled her and Matlack to "listen in" on messages being transmitted from a New York branch office and that they have learned young Matlack is in the hands of Mrs. Stanley R. Holden, his aunt, in Duluth, Minn.

Matlack also claims he knows his son has been converted to Catholicism despite the youth's previous yearning to become a Protestant minister. The father said the boy is contemplating marriage with a St. Louis girl, a match he opposes.

Received Message from Son.
Matlack reached New York in response to a telegram, he says, from his son. He said the telegram told him to apply at the Horace Mann school, but under no circumstances to the apartment in which he lived. Matlack says he sent a wire to his son at the school, but it being after hours when the wire was received, it was delivered to the apartment. Matlack thinks this fact accounts for the sudden disappearance of the boy; that those having him in charge, being warned by the telegram, spirited the lad away.

Letter Is Incoherent.
"Mrs. Matlack says the boy is in good health," said her husband. "But if he is I don't see why he should need the attention of a physician every day, as I am informed he does. The boy's letter to me was incoherent and I think he is under a mental strain."

When told of her husband's search in New York Mrs. Matlack in Joplin laughed the matter away.
"He started for Chicago with a woman," she said. "The woman went to New York and Mr. Matlack has started the story of the kidnapping just to give him an excuse for being in New York. The boy is in a private school where he will be weaned away from the foolish cult stuff taught him when I wasn't looking."

HERE'S A STORY FOR THE MEN, ABOUT SOCKS

There's a Tip in It
About Some Chaps
You Know.

Here's a story for men whose wives don't tell them all the news on the woman's page.

The women of Chicago interested in the Christmas stocking fund want your assistance in helping to provide a full stocking for the soldiers in the training camps in the United States. Christmas packages—25,000 of them—have been provided for the troops in France, now loyal women want the boys at home to have a bulging Christmas stocking and a bully Christmas. They need your help to fill the stocking. They, under the auspices of the Christmas stocking committee of the Red Cross, are knitting the stockings. They want a dollar apiece from you to fill them. It costs a dollar to fill each stocking. Many thousands of them must be filled before Dec. 10.

Men, send your contributions to "Christmas Stocking committee, 64 East Washington street, Chicago."

Lady Mackenzie Is Dead; Wife of Rail President

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 29.—Lady Mackenzie, wife of Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railway, died today at her home here.

The collapse of Bryant H. Barber's private bank at Polo, Ill., following the suicide of its owner brings to public attention the private banking bill which was adopted at the last Illinois general assembly and which will become a law in this state if it is ratified by the people next November.

It is reported by legislators that Bryant Barber, whose tragic death by leaping from a Rock river bridge brought to light the insolvency of his bank, was one of the private bankers who had been active for a number of years in the lobby at Springfield against this measure.

Senator H. W. Austin of Oak Park, who introduced the bill, directs attention to the Barber misfortune as evidence of the necessity of such a law. "Everybody in this community," says Mr. Austin, "considered Mr. Barber rich beyond any doubt [the deposits in his bank were approximately $500,000]. Now it appears that Barber had been speculating."

"One other case I want to call to your attention which is parallel, and that is the opposition put up in the senate by friends of Graham & Sons. They introduced an amendment to make the law apply only to bankers who had been in business less than twenty years. This, of course, would have let the Graham & Sons out of the terms of the law, and it would also have let out a good many throughout the state. By the hardest kind of work we managed to defeat this amendment; we had to break a quorum of the senate one day to do it, and the senate was adjourned hastily for lack of a quorum by friends of the bill."

Your War Time Vacation

Take it in America's Foreign Quarter—of gay, laughing, dancing New Orleans.

This winter business will not pause for pleasure; but business must be halted from time to time for necessary relaxation. And nowhere can that relaxation be more readily found than in the French Quarter of America—New Orleans.

New Orleans is replete with foreign characteristics—even to the least and the humblest of her Creole restaurants. Nowhere else in America are there quaint, more interesting streets than in the Vieux Carré; nowhere else such time-worn houses of antique stone, whose every room is written in history; nowhere else such unique shops, such romantic latticed windows; such mysterious corridors, patios and courts.

But if outward New Orleans has that which is foreign, how much more so the gracious, mirthful spirit of the place—that esprit de Paris—that gay insouciance of Spain—guaranteed to put all care to flight. And the best of New Orleans is its nearness, especially when one travels on

ACID BRANDED WOMAN TELLS WEIRD STORY

Mrs. Ida Browning Says
She Was a Prisoner in Windowless Room.

"Daddy! Daddy!" wept Mrs. Ida Browning yesterday in the bride's room at the hotel where she was held captive for three weeks, she said, and she told the story of her imprisonment in a windowless room.

"I've got something to tell you—alone."

Then Mrs. Browning, in the presence of her mother, Mrs. L. L. Seaman, her husband, and a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, told a weird story of kidnapping. Capt. Thomas Mosher of the Des Plaines street station arrived at the hotel in time to hear much of the strange narrative. How much of truth and how much of fiction there was in it he could not say.

Prisoner in Windowless Room.

Missing since Sept. 5, she declared that all this time she had been kept a prisoner in a room, where and in what city she said she did not know, by several men and a woman. The room, she said, had no windows and the only sunlight that filtered in came from a skylight. She said her clothes were taken away from her and she was often dragged by her captors.

She was kidnapped, she said, from the New York Central railroad station in South Bend, while waiting for a train to go to her home near Aurora. She said that a woman about 25 years old, a decided blond with curly hair, handsomely dressed in brown, and wearing brown spats, and wearing many jewels, came to her in the station and told her that an error had been made in checking her valise.

Then a man, she said, appeared and suggested that the two women go to the baggage room and get the checks "straightened out." Suspecting nothing, she stepped outside. It was dark and a rain was falling. These two, and a second man, she said, threw something over her head, pressed a drab ladies cloth to her face, and threw her into a waiting automobile.

Call Her Miss Montgomery.

She came to consciousness in the prison room, she said, and for two days the men and woman, who visited her occasionally, insisted on calling her "Miss Montgomery." Finally she convinced them that she was not "Miss Montgomery," but they would not let her go.

She was visited often, she said, by these men and two or three more and a man in policeman's uniform. The latter wore a star upon his vest with the letter "A" at the end of the star. The man treated her brutally, she said, often striking her and talking roughly to her. Her supplications for release brought only oaths and threats.

The mysterious blonde woman, she said, was called by the men at times by the various names of Madge, Mame, Fay, and Nellie. One of the men was called "R" by the others.

"R" Stands for Revenge.

Though she was found in the Union station in Chicago, she said she believed she was held prisoner in some other city. Her reason for this was that occasionally she got a glimpse of newspapers in the hands of her captors and they were always Detroit papers.

She declared she would tell everything she knew, she said, and while these held her the big man began painting her with acid, using a soft brush. As the acid seared her flesh she screamed.

"The 'R' stands for revenge," said the man.

Mrs. Browning, who is 32 years old and pretty, said that there was an elevator in the building where she was kept and that occasionally she heard a running up and down. When the door of her room was opened she saw that it was marked, on the outside, with a "3."

Taken Out in Motor.

During her entire imprisonment her clothes were taken from her and she was given a kimono to wear. She had a dim recollection that several times she was taken out of the room, under influence of a drug, and ridden about in an automobile, but she always came to her senses back in the room.

Sometimes from other rooms she heard gay laughter and men and women together. Before she was taken from the place, she said, they compelled her to swallow a pellet and drink a glass of water. She remembers no more until she was picked up in the Union station in Chicago. Several times, she said, those who imprisoned her brought her papers that they forced her to sign. She thought these were letters to her husband demanding ransom. James Browning, a big, strong farmer, said yesterday that he had never received them. He had been hunting for his wife ever since she vanished. He told how she had gone, with her mother and her 4-year-old son, Bert, to visit his brother in Three Rivers, Mich., on July 5.

Long questioning by her relatives and the police failed to shake her story. The only clue to a theory that the police have that she has not yet told all is her whispered words to her husband. "Daddy, I've got something to tell you—alone!"

Mrs. Levinson Not in Need, Says Jewish Society Agent

After investigation, Miss Minnie F. Low of the Jewish Legal Aid society has reported that Mrs. Anna Levinson of 2324 West Twelfth street is in much improved financial circumstances and does not require charitable aid. Several days ago it was said Mrs. Levinson and her four children were in dire want. This has been corrected.

FAKE MESSAGE OF SON'S DEATH SHOCKS PARENTS

J. J. Shepard, victim of anti-American terrorism, was resting comfortably at the Lakeside hospital last night, and physicians have hope that he will recover. Shepard, about 55 years old, and a sufferer from heart disease for years, was mysteriously notified Wednesday night by telephone that a transport had been torpedoed and that his son was dead.

The man immediately became hysterical and wept. He finally collapsed and was taken from the headquarters of the waters' union, to which he belonged, in a semi-conscious condition. It was thought that he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy. Friends then phoned his wife, at 11747 South Michigan, avenue, telling her of the reported death of her son and her husband's condition, and she in turn became hysterical.

The false story of the boy's death is strictly one in a long chain of similar telephone calls, and the federal authorities are seeking the perpetrators of the outrages. In recent weeks these anti-American propagandists have even gone so far as to call up speakers, scheduled for patriotic addresses, and posing as members or committees, have canceled engagements.

Girl Hit by U. S. Mail Truck Dies in Hospital

Virginia Donahugh, 15 years old, 7311 South Elmwood street, died Wednesday night at St. Bernard's hospital of injuries which she suffered earlier in the day when she was struck by a United States mail truck while in front of 7223 S. Halsted street.

ONE DAY OF JOY FOR CHILDREN IS IN YOUR HANDS

Pitiful Appeals Show Way for Good Fellows
to Act.

Back entrance, third floor rear, rooms over a barn, basement front, upstairs in the rear, in the attic—thus ran the descriptions to aid the Good Fellows in yesterday's mail that came straight from the tenements. It means that you Good Fellows will have dark, rickety stairways to climb, long passages to walk through, and alley entrances to locate.

There will be rooms cold and drafty. There will be others hot and close and smelly. But when you arrive, Good Fellows, there will be cheer and children.

A Sample Letter.

This is the letter from "first floor, back of a big yellow house":

"Dear Santa Claus I am a little boy 8 years old. And my ma says you won't come this year please don't forget us. We have five boys and five girls. My oldest sister is 15 years old is sick in the hospital and cannot work. Please bring my sisters four years and two years some toys. I have a brother 1 year old I want a pair of shoes No. 1 1/2 please bring some goodies and stockings. Love from Truman."

From "upstairs in the rear" of a South Side tenement comes another letter. Mary writes:

"Dear Santa Claus. Will you please come and see us this year as you didn't come last Christmas. There are six of us. I am 12 years old and my sisters are 9, 7, 5, and my two brothers are 10 and 3 years. I wish please Santa don't forget us we are so poor and papa don't work much. I am wishing for a nice dinner for my little sisters so they will be happy."

Child Writes of Sad Home.

In the home labeled "third floor, rear," there is sickness, poverty, and despondency. Emma, the oldest of five children, writes to Santa Claus as follows:

"I wish you would come this Christmas day into our sad home. Father has been hurt his ribs were broken the right leg fractured by a fall coming home from work. It is hard for him to get work as he gets fainting spells and is senseless for perhaps 2 hours his eye sight is very bad also. She is very good to us. We must try and repay her some day if our dear Lord lets us live long enough. I hope to God you come to us Santa. Here is our address."

To All Good Fellows.

Mr. Good Fellow, do you follow up that piece pie yesterday with your signature on the dotted line? Did you promise to take care of a poor family on Christmas morning?

If you neglected to enlist, there is still time. Tear out the blank and sign it on your way downtown this morning. Mail it when you get to the office.

Do not send money. The spirit of the Good Fellow movement is to get into this Santa Claus business personally. You will enjoy it more, and so will the kids.

Potatoes Twenty-nine Cents a Peck in Leyden Market

Potatoes, "guaranteed first class and free from frost bite," are to be sold at 29 cents a peck at the town of Leyden market day sale tomorrow afternoon. Fresh vegetables will be taken direct from farmers' wagons by those who attend the sale at Grand and Harlem avenues, 2 to 5 p. m.

The sale has been arranged through the agency of Cook county schools. A price list has been prepared so that visitors will know what is to be paid. The wagon market plan is expected to develop into the establishing of permanent market places on outskirts of the city.

CITY AND OTHERS TO APPEAL FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Gov. Lowden, at Springfield this afternoon, will hear the arguments that Chicago is prepared to present for an extra session of the Illinois legislature. Mayor Thompson, Corporation Counsel Ritselton, Controller Pike, and members of the city council's finance committee, headed by Chairman Richert, will go to Springfield this morning.

Simultaneously the executive is to be bombarded with requests from other agencies and organizations requesting that if an extra session is convened, the call include dozens of subjects. Among these matters is a law to provide ways and means of nominating and electing the mayor and the aldermen by non-partisan system. Another proposition would permit Chicago to vote at the April election upon the adoption of a modified type of commission form of government, to be effective before the spring majority election of 1919.

It is understood that the State Council of Defense will recommend some legislation.

The downstate cities, Rockford in particular, want financial legislation. It is understood that extensive briefs arguing for changes in the soldiers' voting act and the new private banks law are ready to be placed on file with Gov. Lowden, and the governor himself wants some changes in the deep waterway law.

Inside gossip among well informed members of the general assembly suggests that Jan. 10 is a likely date for an extra session, should Gov. Lowden determine to call one.

Boys Found Playing with 50 Sticks of Dynamite

Fifty sticks of blasting dynamite were found yesterday by two boys in an old hut at Chicago street and East Prairie road, Evanston.

BASEBALL WILSON

"Baseball" Wilson, one of the most charming characters of police annals, is being sought by the Chicago police in connection with the activities of a band of crooks as the result of the arrest of Miss Edith Graham, of Waterloo, Ia.

It is reported that Miss Graham recently told what she knew of a $7,000 fur robbery in Waterloo, Ia. in plotting with William Lardner, also of Waterloo, and four known Chicago shoplifters. Thefts of morphine also are included in the list of crimes committed.

Miss Graham was arrested through information gained in a North Side resort by Lieut. John Sullivan and Detective Sergeant William Blaul. It is expected the girl, who two years ago married Lardner, will make a further confession.

LIVELY 'SUICIDE' 'KILLS' AND THEN ARRESTS SELF

Actress' Kindness Furnishes Motive for Both Performances.

Suicide by proxy isn't exactly a novelty stunt, but Warren Stevens tried it anyhow. And if he gets out of this mess, leave it to him, he's never going to get into another. This is a matter of which Mrs. Louise Sydney, an actress, of Otis Skinner's company, will be glad to hear.

Warren, in the swift location of our loop, may be termed a raging torrent. He has served a term in Pontiac for committing larceny, and he has been wanted by the police. These are matters which distinguish our convict who has just reached the grave and sober age of 21.

Actress Reforms Him.

Some weeks ago, having only recently gained his liberty, he made the acquaintance of Mrs. Sydney, and, in a manner of speaking, sobbed on her shoulder. Between sobs he told her the sad story of his life. Mrs. Sydney made him buck up and reform. In token of her ancient sympathy she bought him a suit of clothes with a belt around up under the armpits where the regular cusses wear 'em, gave him a lot of advice and $10 in cash.

Warren wore the clothes, gave the advice to a friend who is saving it and spent the $10. He engaged a room in the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. at 1400 East Fifty-third street, possibly with an idea of absorbing as much morality as he could stand, and then he sat down to think.

Says She Was Too Kind.

A couple of days ago the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. entered Stevens' room to find two notes. One being addressed to him, he read it:

"Farewell, farewell," was the spirit of the missive; "I am taking my life. I have swallowed poison. Please notify Mrs. Sydney. She was too kind. Farewell."

The other note was addressed to Al R. Van, who also has a room in the institution. It was written in the same sad vein. Al felt pretty keen about it for a time. He went to his room to mourn in silence. A glance about the room changed his emotions all around. He was shy a Palm Beach

FAILS TO DEATH IN MINE

Ottawa, Ia., Nov. 29.—While being brought up from the mine at midnight today, A. Soderstrom, a miner, fell to the bottom of the shaft and was instantly killed.

Gives Himself Up.

Yesterday Warren entered the Chicago avenue police station. He wore a worried, saddened expression.

"I want to be arrested," he said. "I want to serve my time and then I am going to take the straight and narrow path. Mrs. Sydney wanted me to join the army. O, how I wish I had."

Detectives then searched his room. They found $200 worth of stolen jewelry.

Beats Death in Mine

Ottawa, Ia., Nov. 29.—While being brought up from the mine at midnight today, A. Soderstrom, a miner, fell to the bottom of the shaft and was instantly killed.

COSTELLO WILL REVEAL CODE OF TAPPED WIRES

More Talks Attributed to Healey and Alleged Aid Bared.

Tom Costello, alleged master bribe plotter, is scheduled to go on the witness stand next week in Judge Sabath's court and deliver what is expected to be the star testimony against former Chief Healey, William Skidmore, and Detective Sergeant Barry. He is expected to verify the telephone conversations heard on the tapped telephone wires and explain some of the stenographic reports she made of conversations heard by her.

Following are "tapped conversations" offered by the prosecution against Healey:

Boss Talks of Quitting.

This talk is alleged to have taken place between Healey and Costello: the former chief was informed, he would be suspended:

Hallo, boss.

Are you alone?

Yes. I am not going out for several days.

Ha, ha. Well, I am glad of that. I hope you stay until after March.

You are the first one I have told now, so keep still. I am to stay until my successor is duly qualified, that will be some time.

Who he is? The Dutchman or the other fellow? [Capt. Russell.]

They are undecided, and I didn't ask any questions.

Well, best not to them—won't be up there.

Well, he may not let me go at all. By—, you don't say so; I hope he don't.

Raising Some Sand.

This talk is alleged to have taken place between Healey and Costello: Man calling Franklin 212. [Healey's telephone.]

Hallo, boss. How about tonight?

Well, I got to come down town; can you call me again?

Why, yes; I was just going out now. Well, I'll go home to dinner at 6 o'clock. Call me there. Maybe I can meet you.

All right. I won't go home then at all.

All right.

Any word for us to get anybody out to the front to raise some sand?

No, I wouldn't turn my hand to save the job.

Well, maybe you wouldn't, but some others will.

No, I'll see you tonight.

All right.

"Hollo, Tom. Say, I've been waiting for you to call. I wonder if that would do at the meeting? There will be two or three hundred coming and going."

"For me, you mean?"

"Yes."

"Can't you get up here?"

"Well, let it go until tomorrow. I sent for that fellow and killed him. I'm glad of that."

"I do want to see you to tell you a few things, but I am afraid."

"If anything happens call me, or I will call you. You know what we should do, register a protest against this."

"You make me laugh. Can't talk very much here at home. The newspapers are going to raise hell with Hartford. I got that in confidence. It seems they got some prostitute that made some statements. Do you think I should show them the way out?"

"No, Lord, no! Because I've got this man on my payroll they've got the goods on Hartford."

"Well, we may get our fingers pinched. Have they got that box of 1877?"

"Yes, well, it's close enough for me to handle now."

"He told him that he knew me well. Now I don't want anything like that. What is to be done? He's got to go."

"Let him go along with it, and you take care of it from that end, but tell him that it is up to him if it don't go."

"What about that one out west? You know that it is up five stories now."

"Yes, but that can wait."

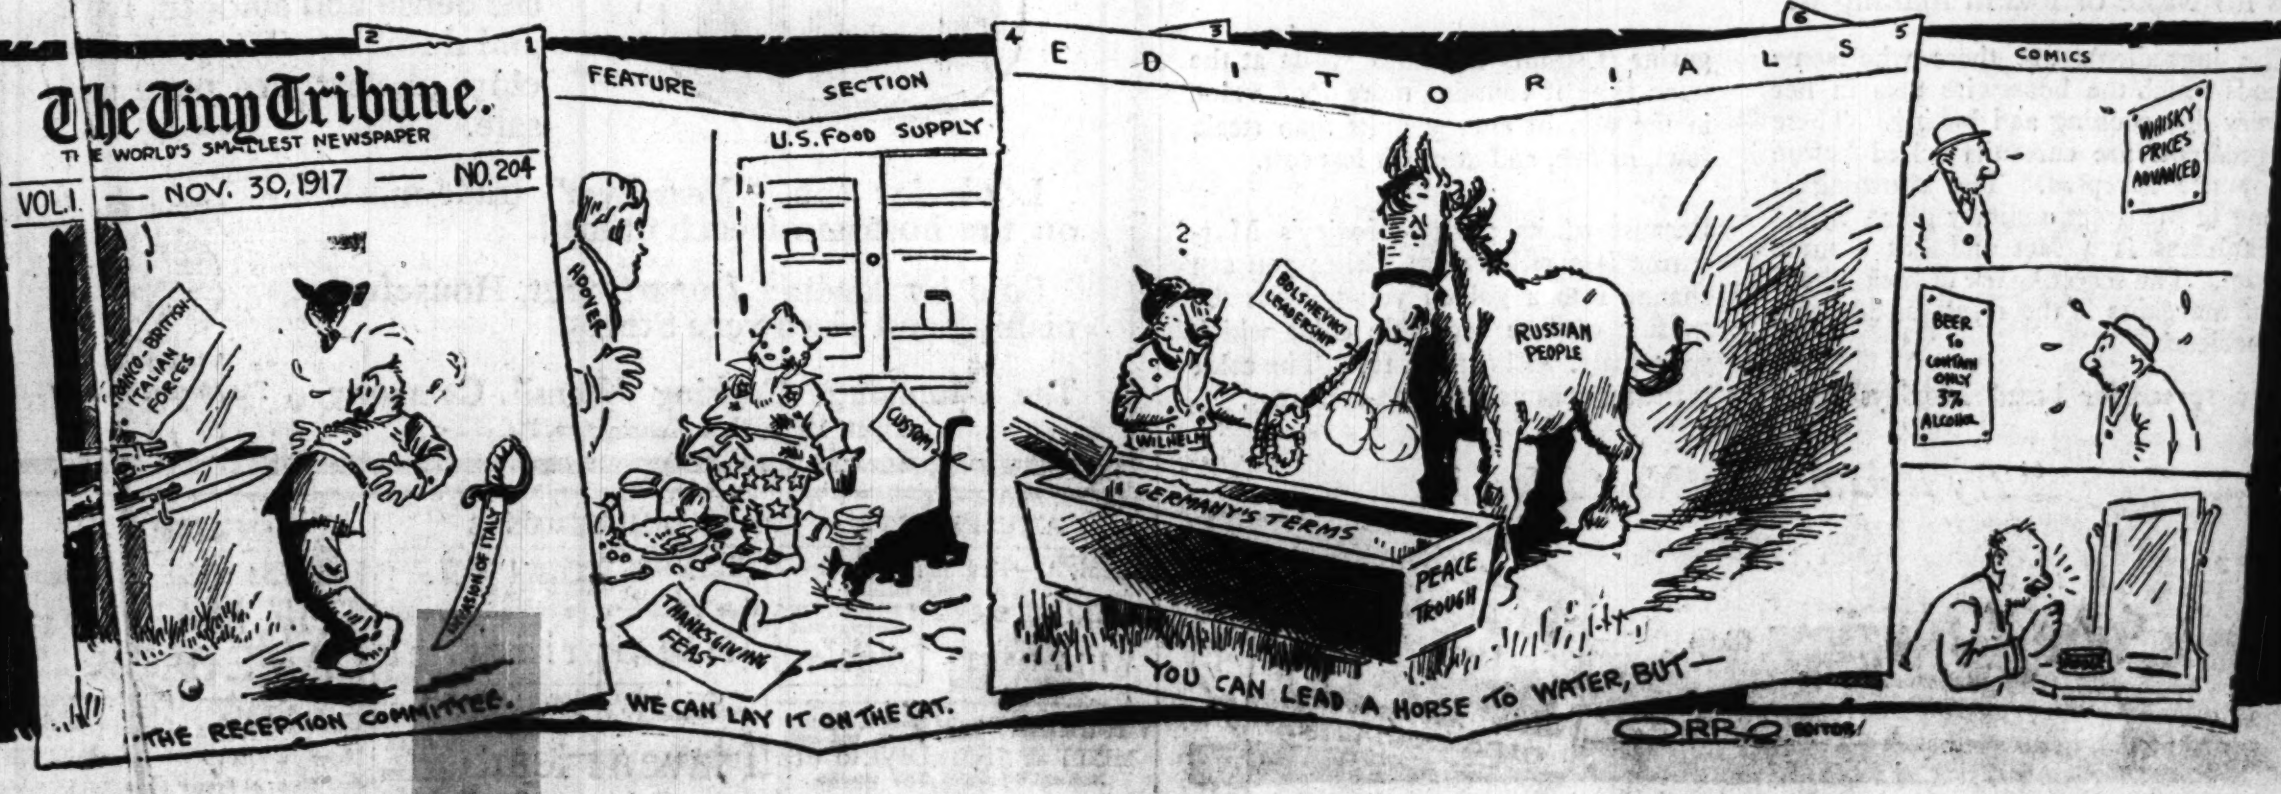

"All right; I have another, a beacher total right across the alley from Rothchild's, a sort of employee hotel."

"Can you fix it with Morgan?"

"I don't know."

and more people had to be asked to eat the turkey, and had there been more time for people to send more turkeys, why I believe Russell Tyson would have had to build an annex to the Fox apartment.

However, that is real hospitality, and there's nothing nicer in the world than that, is there?

Carter Guest of Honor at Chalmers Military Dinner

There was a great military dinner Thanksgiving eve at the Chalmers apartment, 1100 Lake Shore drive, where twenty-eight men sat down to dine together. Mrs. Chalmers, after acting as chief commissary, betook herself to "Toca."

Gen. William H. Carter was guest of honor, and his aids, Col. Ryan, Maj. Chaplin of the English army, Commandant Eckenfelder, Capt. Bertrand, "two blue devils" of the famous Chasseurs, and in short, all the available military men in and about Chicago at the time, were present, as well as a number of civilians and Capt. "Tom" Chalmers.

Speeches were made by Gen. Carter, Col. Ryan, Dr. Frank Billings, and Maj. Lewis L. McArthur.

But the palm as Thanksgiving hostess supreme must be handed to Mrs. Richard Fox, who engineered two large dinners yesterday to a successful finish. The first was at the Casino, where a number of British recruiting officers were her guests and sat down to eat our national bird in company with a number of Camp Grant and signal corps men invited by Col. William. Other men in uniform were asked to this festivity by other persons interested and a very jolly time was had, the guests going on later to the Majestic.

But the Thanksgiving dinner at the Fox apartment in Goethe street at night was what one would call a tour de force. Seventy-five guests were bidden, and every one of them went. Other men in uniform were asked to this festivity by other persons interested and a very jolly time was had, the guests going on later to the Majestic.

It began, however, in a small way, as all big things do. Somebody sent the Foxes duck for Thanksgiving, whereupon they invited friends to share them; whereupon somebody else sent a turkey, upon which more guests were asked. Then another turkey arrived.

ITEMS ABOUT MUSIC

The Thanksgiving repetition of "Rigoletto," with Gail-Curti and Stracclari, drew a big audience, with upholders apparently in use to the ultimate. I think that if the records were searched, the performance would classify as the best in the Chicago annals of the opera in at least one desirable respect: the final curtain was down at 10:52. This is an incidental tribute to the efficiency newly made a part of Campanini's venture in the item of stage-management.

The performance was good in all the ways that last Sunday's was good, and better in the facility with which the principals worked together. The two stars are not strangers to each other's notions about "Rigoletto," for she has in other lands, been Guide to his master. In "La Traviata," too, they have worked together elsewhere. Theirs, in "Rigoletto," is fine, cerebral art. If you are among those with the fallacious notion that good acting is not among the attributes of the best singers in opera, you will profit by closely observing Gail-Curti and Stracclari as they stand in the gathering storm outside Sparafucile's gate, listening while Mantua speaks love to Maddalena.

These two have put "Rigoletto" back into the live repertoire of the Chicago Opera. Their help, as reported on Monday, is good. Musical sense, "Donna e mobile" twice, and the quartet, too, was the subject of repetition.

Nothing tonight. Vic is scheduled to make his belated American debut tomorrow afternoon in "Manon," with Muratore as Des Grieux. The half-price opera for tomorrow night is "Aida," with Peralta and Zimovier.

The Orchestra last night gave its third pop of the season, with the hall jammed, and Tschakowsky's fourth symphony as the big number.

Mile. Vix will get her second rôle, the Juggler, next Wednesday; and she will then place herself in comparison with Mary Garden in a part in which the latter has for eleven years been regarded as peerless. Campanini is announced to conduct for the first time since the matinee of the first week. His convalsence is further indicated by his newly scheduling "The Jewels of the Madonna" for the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 9.

In another box were Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrance Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Evers. Col. and Mrs. R. S. ## GOLDEN WEDDINGS

Two Chicago couples made yesterday a day of double thanksgiving. Both celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries.

In the suburb of Wheaton Mr. and Mrs. James Foulis held a family reunion which was attended by their four sons, David, James Jr., Bob and Simpson, and a daughter, Annie.

The elder Mr. Foulis is one of the oldest golf club makers in the United States. For thirty-two years he was employed by old Tom Morris in his famous little shop at St. Andrews.

On the northwest side at 2201 Cortez street Mr. and Mrs. Julian Nering celebrated their fifty years of married life. Born and married in Poland they came to America forty-five years ago and have lived in Chicago ever since. John Nering, a son, is manager of the Post-Telegraph company.

WOMEN IN WARTIME

There has been much talk of late about women as freight handlers, to take the places of men called away to fight. Women in England have apparently done everything since the war began that the men used to do, but in America machinery is to be made to perform the heaviest tasks. Miss Mary McDowell, chairman of the committee on women and children in industry, has just completed an investigating tour of cities where women are employed as freight handlers, and she reports that she is absolutely opposed to women working in this capacity.

Miss McDowell has consulted many Chicago and New York doctors on the subject and found the majority of them strongly opposed to this work for women.

A benefit musical for the Belgian prisoners in Germany will be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Samuel Hutchinson, 6221 Sheridan road. Miss Laura Van Kirk, Miss Geneva Hayes, and Frederick Thompson will furnish the program.

Mrs. Caroline E. Hill, secretary of the committee on wards of the women's committee, reports that patriotism has been greatly stimulated in Chicago as a result of the registration.

"For example, in the Twenty-sixth ward," she says, "twelve women, who had never done any Red Cross work or even belonged to any organization in all their lives, were so interested that they applied at once for yarn to knit for the soldiers."

"The children in the Hamilton school (Twenty-sixth ward) were so interested in the work and so diligent that they saw to it that not one mother who has a child in the school failed to register."
